The Bonifas Arts Center is sponsored, in part, by the following:
After two years of pandemic, we are starting once more to engage with the world and focus on our quality of life. For most of us that means health, mental and physical. We need physical exercise, of course, but mental stimulation and engagement is just as crucial for our longevity and high quality of life. A 2019 study by Dr. Fancourt of University College London, shows that artistic activities “trigger emotional regulation strategies and reduce levels of (stress hormone) cortisol,” all of which are key for mental health.

Dr. Sanjay Gupta in his bestselling and well researched book “Keep Sharp: Build a Better Brain at Any Age” talks about the paramount importance of continuous mental engagement and learning for preventing Alzheimer’s disease and similar health problems. He states that we must exercise our brains by learning new skills and ideally should try to engage both sides of our brains for optimum health. The Bonifas is uniquely positioned to help you achieve that goal effortlessly. Our arts and lifestyles education programs not only teach new skills, but they also do so in a fun and social environment, that stimulates and connects - two other prerequisites to the longevity and health of our brains. Our events will hit another important component of Dr. Gupta’s longevity program. It will engage you socially and bring you joy — causing the “feel good” chemistry in the brain.

So on my part, I am planning to learn something new and have fun this summer in one of the art classes. It will be hard to choose between a Watercolor Floral Abstract with Donna Lenard, Plein Air Painting with Marlene Wood, or Stained Glass with Beth Cox. I look forward to watching a delightful musical play with over 60 local kids in Missoula Children’s Theater. I will tune in to Pat Frueh’s interpretation of art in the monthly videos “Chat with Pat.” I also intend to pack my picnic and listen to wonderful concerts (and maybe even dance!) at the Music Mondays series down in Ludington Park surrounded by other music lovers. It’s hard to beat the feeling of excitement that I get from coming to Ludington early on Saturday, August 6 to see all the Artists tents set up and the food vendors in place for the annual Waterfront festival. I love to stroll through the rows of pottery, carvings, photography, glass, jewelry and other beautiful art objects and choose presents for family and friends for the rest of the year and chat to artists and visitors.

Let us know what your favorite thing is to do with the Bonifas. Stay healthy, and I hope to see you many times this summer!

-Irina Bruno

Al Hansen is long-time supporter of The Bonifas who has so many years under his belt as a member that he doesn’t recall an exact date. He remembers coming back from college and becoming a member and also remembers volunteering to tear out bleachers in the building when it was being renovated. Al exhibited in the first art show held by the Bonifas.

Pottery is the medium Al has been drawn to and studied over the years. You can often find him at the Bonifas down in the “pot shop” in the basement. He’s been a long-time teacher of pottery techniques. He started out by teaching classes at Bay College and then the Bonifas, where he still teaches.

While Al’s passion is pottery, he also has a love for glass blowing. His fondest memory of The Bonifas is a show that was held for glass blowing. He vividly recalls a huge vase being displayed that had an apple tree with blossoms in the center of it. This sparked his interest in glass and now he has been perfecting his glass blowing for 10-15 years.

What Al really wants everyone to know about The Bonifas is that it’s an “all-inclusive arts center that takes in all types of people.” The Bonifas has events and classes for everyone—from little kids, to teens and college-age persons; to moms and dads, and people older in age...

We at the Bonifas would like to thank Al for his continued contributions, membership, volunteering, service on the Bonifas Board, and for teaching!
NMU ART & DESIGN STUDENT BIENNIAL
May 12 – June 30 | Reception: May 12, 7-9 pm

This exhibit’s intent is to showcase the best of Northern Michigan University’s upper class art students and, in doing so, to present a backdrop to the type of study and growth available at Northern Michigan University’s School of Art and Design. This show gives real world exhibiting experience to the Junior and Senior classes of NMU School of Art and Design students and in turn gives us a glimpse into the future of art with the added bonus of knowing that it was created right here in the U.P.!

BONIFAS MEMBERSHIP SHOW
July 7 – August 25 | Reception: July 14, 6 - 8 pm

A 40+ year tradition, the Bonifas Membership Show, has encouraged members to share their creative explorations at every level of ability. It is a rich and varied exhibit where emerging artists show side-by-side with our experienced and professional artists. It’s a community favorite and worth a walk taking through the galleries. Enjoy!

ABSTRACTION: UNVEILING THE SURFACE
FEATURING GINNIE CAPPÆRT & DAN CROSS
September 1 - October 20 | Reception: September 1, 6 - 8 pm

Door county is a fabulous area for art lovers and with this show we are turning the spotlight on two of the renowned artists from that area. We have invited a local favorite, Ginnie Cappaert, formally of Stephenson MI, and owner of Cappaert’s Contempary Gallery, to show off her new cold wax paintings. Her color palette is sure to please the eye. Joining her will be friend, artist, and owner of Ideas Gallery, Dan Cross. He will introduce his unique painting and photography to us. “My work always searches for the unseen resonating on a subconscious level, places that may seem vaguely familiar, yet mysteriously ambiguous.” –Dan Cross

THE SOLSTICE PROJECT
May 12 – June 2

This exhibit will show off the artworks made during the revised version of the 100 dayproject, called “Solstice to Equinox”, which launched on the winter Solstice date, December 21, 2021 and ended on the Spring Equinox, March 20, 2022. After Covid, the 100dayproject group decided to stick with a weekly creative format instead of the pressure of everyday. The artworks on display were created in weekly increments. We hope you find some inspiration to create your own artwork after visiting this show.

EAST LUDINGTON GALLERY
June 9 – Aug 4

Come see what the artists have been up to over at the East Ludington Gallery. We have invited the artists in their co-op to expand their exhibit space to include our Studio Gallery for the Summer. This show usually features all different types of media and subject matter. East Ludington Gallery is located at 1007 Ludington St. Escanaba and houses artwork made by some of the best artists in the area.

WATERFRONT ART FESTIVAL
Saturday, August 6, 10 am - 4 pm In Ludington Park By Karas Bandshell
FREE to attend

The Waterfront Art Festival is celebrating 50 years! It’s the area’s largest and longest running art festival. Artists from the Upper Peninsula and beyond will display their artwork. There will be everything from jewelry, photography, pottery and much more available for purchase. Waterfront will also be hosting the Young Artists’ Market again this year. Kids will be able to set up to sell their own handmade artwork. It’s a great opportunity for students to share and sell their work. As always there will be a kids activity tent, a great selection of food vendors, art raffle tent and live entertainment. The layout might look different than it has in the past to accommodate both our vendors and community members.

If you or someone you know is interested in becoming an artist or food vendor please contact Events Coordinator, Paula Jordan at (906) 212-5238, or by email at paula@bonifasarts.org.
