Friends, Artists, and Supporters,

As we wait for spring to go out like a lamb I hope you're making big plans for warmer weather like we are. Our goal is to fill every week of summer with art, music, creativity, and fun and we want you all to be a part of it.

Participating in classes, becoming a member, and joining us for Music Mondays are not just fun, they are a great way to support the Bonifas and all of the hard work we do to bring arts and culture to the community. And those actions also help us to have funding for our continued upkeep of the building.

It's been almost a year since lightning struck our beloved building and caused a fire that did significant damage to our theater and the rest of the building. I couldn't have imagined we'd be back in the building, or how far we'd be in the restoration process.

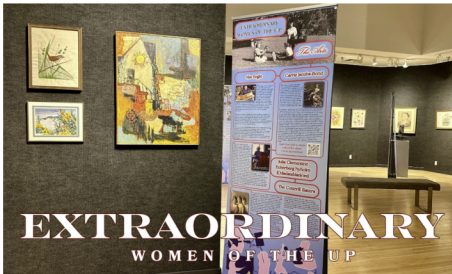

The rebuild is coming along with HVAC being worked on this week and we've already had an order of acoustic panels come in with more to come. While we are thankful that the restoration has progressed steadily but as we've rebuilt the full cost of our restoration is becoming clearer and your continued patronage of the Bonifas will help us to bear the unexpected costs that have cropped up. Some easy ways to help are becoming a member, taking a class, or going online and donating today at bonifasarts.org.

I'm looking forward to sharing a summer filled with music, art, and fun with you all.

Chelsea Hart
Executive Director

CALL FOR EDUCATION SUGGESTIONS & INSTRUCTORS:

We are exploring new art programs and would appreciate your suggestions. Please email our Education Coordinator Noah Johnson at noah@bonifasarts.org what types of art classes, age groups, or skill levels you'd like us to offer. Your input helps us build programs that best serve our community.

The Bonifas is excited to highlight our semi-new Education Coordinator, Noah! Noah has been busy finding instructors and bringing new educational opportunities to the area. Here are a few words from Noah: "My wife Indra and I moved here almost two years ago from North Georgia sight unseen, and we immediately fell in love with the area. Whether that be the beach, the park or just downtown Escanaba. We're still getting accustomed to the winters up here as I can confidently say we have never seen so much snow and ice. The community here has been extremely welcoming, and we have met so many amazing people in our short time here.

As for my role at the Bonifas, I may not be considered a typical artist, but I'm excited to join this vibrant creative community and to support the Bonifas Art Center's mission of making art accessible, engaging, and meaningful for learners of all ages. One of my favorite parts of being the education coordinator is connecting with local artists. I'm continually inspired by the talent, generosity, and creativity in our community, and I love helping artists share their skills and stories. Building these relationships not only strengthens our programs, but also creates meaningful opportunities for collaboration, mentorship, and creative exchange. Seeing artists bring their unique perspectives into the classroom is a powerful reminder of how vital the arts are to our community.

I look forward to getting to know our students, artists, families, and supporters, and I welcome your ideas, questions, and conversations. Please feel free to reach out or stop by the Bonifas to say hello--I'd love to connect."

EVENTS

The Bonifas is so excited to highlight the newest member of our team, Alex! Alex is our Events Coordinator, in charge of your favorite things like the High Tea and Music Mondays. Please wish him a warm welcome! Here are a few words from Alex: "Hi! I'm so excited to join the team here at the Bonifas Arts Center. I recently moved to Escanaba from a little town downstate called Allegan, but I've been coming to town with my family for almost as long as I can remember. I am thrilled to finally be settling in the area for myself. Since arriving in Escanaba, I've had the pleasure of being cast in two of Players de Noc's recent productions (Ten November and The Producers) where I've made connections I already know I'll cherish for life.

Throughout my life, I've been very involved with Scouting America. I'm an Eagle Scout, a member of the Vigil Honor in the Order of the Arrow, and in my professional Scouting career I've had the honor of staffing, facilitating, and planning a large spectrum of outdoor and community events. I look forward to bringing my experience, attention to detail, perspective, and fresh ideas to the Bonifas so we can provide our community with exciting and memorable events.

I am so looking forward to this year's event season, and I cannot wait to get to know this community even better. If you have any questions or ideas, please feel free to reach out to my email or stop by the Bonifas during the week."
